

2.69 Severability of Provisions.

Should any section or provision of this article be declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of this article as a whole or any section thereof other than the section or provision specifically declared to be invalid.